BUSHRANGING IN QUEENSLAND.

REPORTED MURDERS.

NO CONFIRMATION RECEIVED.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.
It was rumoured last night that Mr. Dally, the manager of Carnarvon station, Queensland, and Constable Doyle, had been shot by the party of men who stuck up Mercede station last week. On inquiry made regarding the matter it was learned that the story which reached the Queensland press was not true, and that any bushrangers concerned in the robbery had been captured. It appears that Mr. Dally was out with Constable Doyle, when they overtook a man whom they believed to be one of the bushrangers. They attempted to shoot him, but he escaped, and the two constables, who had been in the act of shooting, returned to the police station house. He had not gone far when he heard shots fired. The constables had been shot, and the bushrangers had a horse-gang for eight miles. Then he met a horse and returned with him to the spot where he had left the others. No one was seen, but the constables had blood marks on it.

So far as is known no bodies were discovered, so there is no positive proof for the report of murder which has been communicated.

The authorities in Brisbane acted quickly in the matter, and police have strenuously sought the guilty party, all well armed, are now scouring the country from Barcaldine to Springsure, as well as from Charters and Maranoa.
